Natural disasters

There are many natural disasters such as storms, floods, tornadoes, tropical storms and volcanic eruptions. Tornadoes are the most violent of all storms. Nobody can predict what they might do. Tornadoes destroy houses, carry away cars and telephone boxes. They consist of very strong winds. That is why they are very dangerous. Fortunately, tornadoes can be predicted. Floods occur when a river overflows its banks because of high water level. Floods rarely catch people by surprise. A volcanic eruption can cause a lot of damage to the countryside. The lava that flows down the mountain can destroy it. In all these disasters nature and people need help. Emergency workers are specially trained people who do their job during and after these types of disasters.
